 - The decision on the appeal is final.

The parents/guardians are responsible for providing transportation for all students who transfer between schools, except those who qualify for a transfer based on No Child Left Behind (NCLB). Students approved for transfer based on NCLB must be provided transportation by the district.

Lack of academic effort, poor attendance, excessive tardiness, or discipline problems shall provide just-cause for the District to return a student to his/her attendance area school. Transfers of students back to their attendance area schools for any of these reasons will occur at the end of a term unless the time of transfer is mutually agreed upon by both the attendance area school and hosting school principals.

Duration of the transfer is for the designated school year only or a stated period of time of lesser duration. Acceptance of students who are the children of full-time employees will be for the duration of their schooling or until the parent is no longer an employee.
